

2010 National Scholastic Art & Writing Award Winners

St. Pius X School in Edgewood, Kentucky is proud to announce that two of the school's eighth-grade students have been named as 2010 National Scholastic Art & Writing Awards winners. Szofia Komaromy-Hiller won a gold medal for her humorous script "Dies Irae," and Lindsey Franxman won a silver medal for her personal essay "I Am a Mermaid." Komaromy-Hiller and Franxman have been invited to New York City in June to collect their writing medals.

As previously announced, Komaromy-Hiller also travels to Washington, D.C. later this spring to participate in the Scripps National Spelling Bee.
